

a 2007 0028

The invention relates to the wind-driven electric plants, in particular to the electric devices for wind-driven electric plants.

The electric device for wind-driven electric plant comprises a generator, a rectifier, a stabilizer, a direct-to-alternate current converter and a voltage multiplier, connected in series, as well as a group of switches connected to the voltage multiplier, and a switch program control unit.

Claims: 1

Fig.: 1