

The invention relates to agriculture, in particular to devices for protecting crops from harmful insects. The device for attracting and sterilizing harmful insects comprises a body (7), on which are installed a frame (6), a power source (3) and an optical radiation source (1). The optical radiation source (1) consists of three ultraviolet lamps. In the upper part of the body (7) is placed a sex hormone dispenser (2), and the frame (6) contains reflective screens (5) and is made cylindrical of perforated material.

Claims: 1

Fig.: 2

