

94-0067

Utilization in heliotechnic. The vacuum collector consists of a tub without welding with edgings made from metal plates the bottom of which is corrugated. in the tub an absorber is placed with pipes, metal elements which are fixed on the corrugated endings of the bottom of the tub and they have supporting elements covered with glass permitting the sunrises to penetrate. This proposed construction permits to avoid deformation while manufacturing.