

94-0097

The invention relates to the liqueur - vodka production.

The alcoholic beverage comprising sugar syrup, citric acid and water-alcoholic solution supplementary comprises the ginseng dry biomass in the following component ratio in kg/1000 dal:

sugar syrup	- 50-55
citric acid	5,0-5,5
ginseng dry biomass	4,0-6,0
water - alcoholic solution	- the rest.

The ginseng dry biomass considerably improves the organoleptic properties of the alcoholic beverage at the expense of extenuation its taste as well as prevents the harmful consequences of strong alcoholic beverages usage.