

94-0217

The method of saline sorbent for drinks refining stipulates the raw material refining with alkali and copper salt solution of zinc solution. As raw material they use grape marc, grape seeds and the oil cake out of the grape after the alkali reaction, the treatment with copper or zinc salt solution is carried out up to copper or zinc cation saturation.

The saline sorbent obtained in this way, is effective for the refining of different drinks and for the elimination of unpleasant smells.

Claims:1.