

94-0288

The invention describes new N-acylated arylpyrroles effective for controlling the insects, ticks, worms, nematodes, fungi and mollusks and useful for plant growth protection from the said pests destructive action. The invention also proposes peptidical compositions comprising new N-acylated arylpyrroles and processes for obtaining thereof.