

94-0355

The invention has relation to domain of dispositiv for games that relate to drawing of numbers and can be exploited in distraction industry, for example at casino (gambling).

The offered digital dispositiv for games possesses the extended game possibilities. It is realized in order to digital dispositiv that consist of numbers field, counters for stakes and block of numbers drawing, it is introduced in addition at least one group of empty checks consisting of the least two checks as well in addition are introduced counters furnishing the number marking, moreover the numbers on these correspond the numbers of block of number's drawing.

Application of filed dispositiv makes it possible the game more fascinating by extend of possibilities including in direction of increasing of divisibility winnings for one stake.