

95-0028

Utilization: agriculture. the essence of the invention: the plants resistance to salt is estimated by measuring the electrical resistance of the leaves of the plants, being under the influence of a saline stress and in optimal growing conditions.

The plants resistance to salt is determined in accordance with the variation of the electrical resistance. In the variation of the electrical resistance is not significant, the plants resistance to salt is high.

Claims: 1