

95-0253

The invention relates to the medicine, namely in the vessel narrowing drugs used for acute hypotension (bleeding, traumas, shock, intoxication and others). The summary of the invention consists in the fact that difetur is a derivative of the iso compounds having a short hydrocarbon chain with the structural formula:

possesses an antihypertensive activity.

The technical result of the invention consists in the creation of a new drug possessing an antihypertensive activity.