

95-0310

The summary of the invention: the roller contains two assemblies, each of them contains the feeding chamber, two rollers pair, disposed one over the other with the lift and individual regulation mechanism. The roller includes a mechanism for impurities removing, funnels for product removal having the control door and the rollers switch control means.