

95-0351

The invention relates to the steroids, particularly, to obtaining of steroid glucosides from vegetal starting materials.

The method is carried out by extraction with 70% ethanol on heating the seeds of Petunia hybrida hort. The extract is concentrated up to aqueous residue, then is gel-filtrated through sephadex G-50. The title product is dried in vacuo up to powder.

The technical result consists in obtaining of substances with increased antiviral activity against virus of tobacco mosaic.

Claims: 1