

96-0008

The invention relates to the hair combs combined with additional devices, for example manicure accessories.

The comb comprises a strip with teeth and the handle. On the handle is executed a cut, that gives the comb property to a small saw, for example for nail care.

The technical result consists in expanding the application and functional possibilities of the metallic comb.

Claims: 1

Fig.: 1