

96-0042

The vine sort (Vitis) is registered under the appellation of Leana, is obtained by means of hybridization of the sorts Ichaouche blanc x Perle with the subsequent selection on an artificial infections background, is intended for fresh utilization and is districted in the Republic of Moldova.

The sort is characterized by a medium size, self-fertile, having orbicular leaves, five-lobed, partially and fully dissected. The villi in the interior side of the leaf are absent.

The bunch is medium-sized, having a conic form or it is branched, having an average density and an average mass of 215 gr, the berry size is a little bigger than the average one, ovate, yellow-green, having a thin skin and succulent pulpy pulp, with a pleasant and harmonic taste. The sugar content is 16-18%. acidity - 6,0-7,0%, a high crop capacity of 120-150 g/ha, transportable, degustation assessment - 8,2-8,5.