

96-0141

There are claimed inhibitors of the formula wherein the substituents are designated in the description.

There are also claimed the process for HIV protease inhibition and pharmaceutical composition containing said compounds acceptable for treatment of patients or carriers affected with the HIV virus known as the AIDS pathogen. The inhibitors of the HIV protease inhibit or block the biological activity of the HIV protease enzyme, thus provoking the cessation of the HIV virus replication.