

96-0298

The invention refers to agriculture, namely, to agricultural plants protection.

It is proposed a process for aphid control, consisting in application of the aqueous dispersion in the affection seat, prepared of a solid concentrate constituting of pirethroide insecticide and about 50 mass % of polyvinylpyrrolidone, and utilization thereof for aphid control in the affection seat.