

96-0377

The invention relates to the power plants and may be used for the electric power autonomous production in the transport means.

The installation contains an air intake (1), installed on the transport mean top and it is provided with a guard (2), a dissector (3) and air ducts (4). The installation also contains a flywheel (5), made of two disks between which is installed an S-shaped tube with accessory nozzles on the output shaft of which is installed a generator (13).

Claims: 1

Fig.: 5