

97-0168

The invention relates to the medicine and particularly, to the cardiology.

The summary of the invention consists in the fact that in the remedy on the polysacharids base for dislipidemy and atherosclerosis treatment there is used pectine having etherification level more than 70 percents with hypocholesterolemic effect which contains calcium cations of 300-500 mg-equiv./kg, particularly apple pectine.

The technical result consists in the hypocholesterolemic properties increasing, triglycerides decreasing and C-HDL level increasing.

Claims: 2