

98-0052

The invention relates to medicine and may be used as anti-inflammatory remedy of the external application, particularly, for treatment of the seborrhea head at the posttraumatic dermal damages, burns of I-II degrees as well as at the dermatitis caused by the contact with plants and insects having the irritation action.

The proposed remedy contains a human placenta dispersed and denatured by the 0,06% chlor dioxide solution, 10% hellebore alcoholic infusion, aromatizer and the distilled water, in the following components, mass %:

human placenta dispersed and denatured		by the 0,06%
chlor dioxide solution	3,5... 4,5
10% hellebore alcoholic infusion	18,0...20,0
aromatizer	0,5...1,0
distilled water	the rest.

The technical result of the invention consists in the fact that the remedy renders a resolving and reparative activity, possesses an antiseptic and binding properties, improves the blood circulation in the head skin.

Claims: 1