

99-0245

The invention refers to medicine, in particular, to the plastic and is provided for soft parts defects covering with recuperation of functions and affected zone sensitivity.

The autotransplant comprises a muscular-fascial-cutaneous complex containing muscle being the wrist radial flexor, a vascular pedicle which contains a radial artery, a cephalic vein and two accompanying radial veins and nervous pedicle having the proper motor branch of the wrist radial flexor and fore arm cutaneous nerve branches.

The result of the invention consists in the proper autotransplant motor and sensitive innervation.