

a 2004 0035

The invention refers to medicine, in particular to gynecology, and may be used for treatment of primary and secondary algodysmenorrhea to patients with menstrual cycle disorders.

Summary of the invention consists in the use of bromide of S-ethyl isothiuronium (isoturone) for algodysmenorrhea treatment.

The result consists in that when locally using said medicinal preparation in 95...100% cases there is attained disappearance of the pain syndrome.

Claims: 1