

a 2005 0316

The invention relates to a process for distillate obtaining for strong beverages.

The process, according to the invention, includes obtaining of the raw material for distillation and the differential distillation thereof. At the same time, the raw material is obtained by mixing the grain saccharified batch with a mixture of pressed grape must and diffusive juice in the ratio of (0,5...1,0):1 respectively, with subsequent fermentation or by mixing of the preliminarily fermented grain saccharified batch with wine stock with the strength of at least 6 vol. % in the ratio of (0,5...1,0):1 respectively.

Claims: 1