

a 2007 0321

The invention refers to the field of identification of material resources.

The tag or a part thereof is formed of composite material of contrast colours, for example black and white, and nanocomposites are created by preliminary atomization of extra-hard nanoalloys with obtaining of superdispersed powder, with subsequent formation from the powder of the identification tag and calcination thereof.

Claims: 14

Fig.: 5