

a 2013 0012

The invention relates to biotechnology, in particular to a strain of filamentous fungi Trichoderma koningii Oudemans and can be used for producing proteolytic enzymatic agents.

Fungus strain is deposited at the National Collection of Nonpathogenic Microorganisms of the Institute of Microbiology and Biotechnology of the ASM under the number CNMN-FD-15 and may be used as a source of acid, neutral and alkaline proteases.

Claims: 1