

a 2018 0060

The invention relates to animal husbandry, in particular to devices for artificial insemination of sheep and goats. The device, according to the invention, comprises a body of a length of 230...235 mm, made of stainless steel, assembled from a cannula (2) for fixing the syringe with seminal material, a rod (1) and a spiral tip (4), the outer diameter d_1 of which is 1.6 mm, connected by means of a sleeve (3) with an outer diameter d_2 of 1.8 mm.

Claims: 1

Fig.: 2

