

a 2003 0192

The invention refers to medicine, in particular to the surgical hepatology.

Summary of the method consists in the multiple endoscopic injection of the ozonized 0,9% NaCl solution in the concentration of 2000...4000 µg/L into the submucous layer of the affected zones in a quantity of 2...4 ml, which is carried out in 2...4 procedures at an interval of 2...3 days. Simultaneously, it is perorally administered ozonized vegetable oil, in the concentration of 8000...10000 µg/L in a quantity of 5...15 ml 3...4 times a day during 8...10 days.

Claims: 1