

a 2004 0265

The invention refers to medicine, in particular to obstetrics, gynecology and may be used for treatment of patients with menstrual cycle disorders and, particularly, in the menstrual rhythm disorder, amenorrhea or hypomenstrual syndrome, menorrhagia or metrorrhagia, associated with chronic viral hepatitis.

Summary of the invention consists in that during the 3-month treatment cure there is daily administered for 2 mg of estradiol hemihydrate and hepatoprotectors and, moreover, in the 11-th to 14-th of each menstrual cycle there is administered for 10 mg of didrogesteron, and in the 14-th to 28-th day for 20 mg of didrogesteron, accordingly.

Claims: 1