

a 2005 0157

The invention relates to galvanostegy, in particular to the electrolytic deposition of iron platings.

The process includes the electrolyte treatment, degreasing and anodic preparation of the electrode surface, and deposition of plating onto the cathode into the iron plating electrolyte. The electrolyte treatment and the anodic preparation of the electrode surface is carried out under the action of ultra-violet radiation.

Claims: 1