

a 2007 0322

The invention relates to the protection of securities from falsification, namely to a method for forming the individual tag on documents on paper carrier.

The method, according to the invention, provides for the introduction into the paper mass, during its production, of the super dispersed powder, manufacture of documents from the obtained paper, afterwards the information from a portion of the document in respect of placement of the powder inclusions, preferably concomitantly with other identification elements, is introduced into a database.

Claims: 4