

a 2008 0253

The invention refers to medicine, namely to otorhinolaryngology.

The method for treating chronic pharyngotonsillitis consists in that 1,5...2 hours before meals it is carried out gargarism with a nucin solution, diluted with physiological solution in a ratio of 1:7...1:10 and ozonized at a concentration of ozone of 8000...12000 $\mu\text{g/L}$, during 3...5 min. Then with a strong jet of the same solution, but unozonized, the treatment is carried out once a day during 10...15 days, twice for the space of a year.

Claims: 1