

a 2015 0064

The invention relates to a polycyclic carbamoylpyridone compound for use in the treatment of human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) infection.

The compound of Formula Ia has the following structure:

including a pharmaceutically acceptable salt thereof. Use of such compound, as well as a pharmaceutical composition comprising such compound is also disclosed.

Claims: 6