

The invention relates to table games, in particular to folding tables for the formation of sports skills, and can be used in practicing skills by amateurs and novice sportsmen, during training indoors and outdoors.

The table, according to the invention, comprises two legs (1), placed with the possibility of overlapping and interconnected in the center by means of a clamping handle (4). At the base of the legs (1) are rigidly mounted support shoes (3), and in their upper part are movably mounted fastening elements (2), wherein is installed a detachable frame (7) with a horizontal mesh (8), and with movable hinges (9), placed in the center of the length of the frame (7) with the possibility of its folding.

Claims: 1

Fig.: 8

