s 2017 0056

The invention relates to parasitology, namely to a method for prophylaxis of fasciolosis in ruminants.

The method, according to the invention, consists in the distribution on the pastures contaminated with Fasciola hepatica, on which the presence of snails of the Limnea truncatula species was determined, of Haplometra cylindracea miracidia, in a number that provides a ratio of Fasciola hepatica and Haplometra cylindracea miracidia of (1...2):1.

Claims: 1