

s 2018 0113

The invention relates to the field of pharmaceuticals, in particular to veterinary pharmacology and can be used in the production of baits for the administration of drugs to domestic and wild animals.

The process for producing baits for treating wild and domestic animals comprises the homogenization of the antiparasitic agent with wheat flour, meat and bone meal or alfalfa flour and vegetable oil, extrusion and portioning into briquettes of parallelepiped shape and package thereof in thermoset filter paper bags.

Claims: 1