

s 2019 0003

The invention relates to experimental medicine, clinical pharmacology and intensive therapy and can be used for preventing arterial hypotension using angiotensin 1-converting enzyme inhibitors in the treatment of cardiovascular diseases.

Summary of the invention consists in that rats are intravenously administered 2...4 mg/kg of an angiotensin 1-converting enzyme inhibitor, and then intravenously is bolus administered 10...20 mg/kg of S-ethylisothiuronium bromide solution.

Claims: 1