

s 2020 0106

The invention relates to preventive medicine, namely to a phytotherapeutic composition for producing an aqueous infusion with antihypertensive effect.

The composition, according to the invention, comprises chicory root, aboveground part of winter cress, birch buds, black currant leaves, garden orach leaves, stinging nettle leaves, dandelion leaves, burdock root, hawthorn fruits, common horsetail leaves, dry cannabidiol extract, elder flowers and corn silk.

Claims: 1