

s 2021 0043

The invention relates to fish breeding, in particular to a composition and a process for dehelminthization and additional feeding of carp.

The composition according to the invention, comprises: sunflower meal, corn meal, soybean meal, alfalfa meal, meat and bone meal and an antiparasitic preparation containing praziquantel, fenbendazole, levamisole.

The process, according to the invention, provides for the introduction of the specified composition to carps during April-May, at a water temperature of 16-22°C, in a dose of 3-5% of the carp body weight, at the same time the corresponding dose is administered daily, in well-illuminated feeding places, divided into 5-6 portions, with an interval of 1-2 hours, within 10 days.

Claims: 2